BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF PROJECT AND RELEVANCE TO THIS CONTRACT:

Design and construction of new canopies and entrances for the School of St Mary. The addition to the school completed in 2006 by another architecture firm did not include any protection for or over the north facing main entrances to the school. This created very uncomfortable conditions for those working near the main entrance during adverse weather conditions. The school was also concerned about the energy inefficiencies each time the doors were opened. There were several issues that had to be resolved as a part of the final solution and included defending the entrances from northern exposure, integration of the new canopy elements into the existing architecture, linking several buildings together and cost.
